RE: Expansion of Lost Horse Quarry

As an owner of Spire Climbing Center, I come in contact with climbers who climb at the Lost Horse Quarry. Because Bozeman does not have this quality of bouldering in the vicinity, many do make the 4+ hour drive to the area for the weekend, or stop at Lost Horse when they are passing through. I hope that you will consider what a unique area this is for climbers, when making decisions related to expanding operations at the Quarry.

Thank You
